

Gay Yuletide Season Arranged for Lakewood

Community Celebration With Singing of Carols Among the Features.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
LAKESIDE, Dec. 17.—The color and gaiety of a happy Yuletide are evidenced here. Arrangements are completed for the community celebration, which is to include the singing of carols in the open air about a towering Christmas tree, and other features.

In the hotels during the Christmas season the dances at the Laurel House and Laurel-in-the-Pines will be especially notable this year. Private homes are to be the scenes of entertainments and between the formal events of the hotels and clubs and the cottage activities a well rounded program of entertainments is assured.

The annual Christmas golf tournament of the Lakewood Golf and Country Club will be an event of importance to golfers. More than 100 are expected here to participate in the two day trophy event. Trapshooters also are to have a jolly meet at the traps of the Laurel House.

Announcement was made this week of the sale of the controlling interest of the Lakewood Hotel by John W. Smith to the Pines Hotel Company.

At the Madison are Mrs. E. A. Allen and Miss Ethel Allen, J. T. Crawford, Miss Elsie Lowcher, Miss Lillian Lowcher, New York, and Miss Margaret Michel, New Brunswick.

Miss F. H. Harrison of Lawrence, L. I. and Mr. and Mrs. L. Allison of New York are at the Florence in the Pines. Mrs. H. Goodman also is there. Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. H. W. Eddy of the Lakehurst Naval Air Station are at the Laurel House. George L. Record of Jersey City also is there. Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Tallmadge, Mrs. T. F. Dougherty and Miss Grace Dougherty of New York are at the Laurel in the Pines.

Mrs. Clarence Dillon and children, who have been at the Laurel in the Pines for some time, left for New York for the holidays.

George W. Tryon and Miss Jane Tryon of New York were recent visitors to Lakewood, stopping at the Laurel House. Others who registered there were Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Pouch and Mrs. D. C. Alvord of Brooklyn, Thomas W. Bowers, Boston; Miss M. A. Moller and Miss J. M. Moller, Montclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Cleveland of Detroit are at the Laurel in the Pines. Others there include Mr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Goodwin, Cleveland; Ivan Samson, London; Mrs. E. F. Lawson, New York; Mrs. Elizabeth Eckerson, E. M. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Jordello, Philadelphia; Mrs. F. S. Jerome, Miss Louise Jerome and Miss McQueney, New Haven, and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Galbraith, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

THE Joys of Yuletide and the Spirit of Christmas find fullest expression at these hotel homes of happiness. Brightly burning yule-log fires in spacious open hearths. A social life of refinement and charm. Fireplaces in the rooms for the kiddies' Christmas Stockings. Nearby woodlands of pine and holly.

Out in the open there are 18 wonderful holes for the golfer, charming walks for the hiker and enchanting trails for the equestrian. And all within convenient distance of the city.

IN-THE-PINES

ALLURING, Entrancing, Fascinating—mere superlatives cannot describe the advantages of this delightful Winter Resort, nestled in the New Jersey pine woods. The air is dry and the climate is exhilarating.

Horse-back Riding is the predominant winter sport at Lakewood. A brisk walk or canter through wooded pathways—a round of Golf, perhaps, over the course of the Lakewood Country Club; Boating, Canoeing, Motorboating and hundreds of kindred sports. Luxurious Hotels, modern and up-to-date, with ball-rooms as festive centers for the social life of the colony.
